Animal Odor

Unpleasant animal-related odors are a common, daily occurrence, and managing them safely and effectively is an important part of keeping your work environment pleasant, your clients satisfied, and your pets happy.

Animal Zone

(kennel, grooming, dog & cat ward)

In the Animal Zone, feces, urine, and emesis are just a few of the common odors present. Managing odors in this zone is key to sending your patients home in optimal condition.

Staff Zone

(laundry, laboratory, conference room, pack/scrub & treatment area)

Working in an environment that is dedicated to helping pets live long and healthy lives can be very rewarding. It also has its drawbacks and having to deal with ongoing animal-related odors is one of them. Address odors throughout the Staff Zone and make your daily work environment as positive as the results you help create.

SKUNK-OFF® Shampoo

Safely and effectively removes all traces of skunk spray from dogs, other pets and people.

When a pet has an unfortunate encounter with a skunk it almost always gets sprayed directly on the chest and face. Thornell's unique Skunk-Off Shampoo is safe to use around the eye lids, mouth and in between toes. Follow these directions if a skunk attack has occurred. Wipe off excess skunk spray in areas of direct hit. Wet the coat and then apply liberal amounts to the affected area, let stand for 3-5 minutes and then rinse thoroughly and let dry. If odor persists, continue to reapply as necessary. When using on cats wet your cat's body with warm water. Apply Skunk-Off Shampoo and bathe. For the face use a soft cloth soaked with Skunk-Off Shampoo to carefully apply around eyes and ears. Rinse and dry completely.

Ready-to-Use

- 8oz (236ml)
- 128oz (3.79L)
- 32oz Spray on Shampoo (946ml)

SKUNK-OFF® Liquid

Can be safely applied to automobiles, crawl space, outdoor home and decking as well as indoor carpets, upholstery, clothing or bedding.

The odor from skunk spray is a mercaptan that is in the same family of odors that are used to scent natural gas so leaks can be quickly detected. This is the reason why treating for skunk spray must be so thorough. Miss anything and you will still smell "skunk" although greatly diminished in strength. Skunk-Off liquid can be safely applied to automobiles, crawl space, outdoor home and decking as well as indoor carpets, upholstery, clothing or bedding. Use Skunk-Off liquid in laundry at a rate of 2-4 ounces per regular load. Skunk-Off may also be applied by fogging in enclosed areas (garage, outbuildings).

Ready-to-Use

- 8oz Soaker (236ml)
- 32oz Spray (946ml)
- 128oz Premise Spray (3.79L)
